

A Leap of Faith

Welcome to the first issue of The Journal of Forensic Science Education. Our vision is for the journal to showcase the work of forensic science educators. We feel that this first issue sets us sturdily on that path.

The journal has been a goal of COFSE for years and it has taken our team two years of weekly meeting to produce this first issue. In this issue, there are several excellent papers by authors from seven institutions. We appreciate the authors going through this process of learning new software and the platform with us. We hope that you read and enjoy each article.

Readers, we welcome your input. We know there may be things we can improve and we look forward to your feedback and ideas.

We welcome Guest Editors who would like to edit Special Issues. We look forward to your ideas. Please contact us if you are interested in serving in this capacity.

Finally, thank you to the community of forensic educators for supporting the journal and making this first issue possible. We couldn't do it without you.

Thank you,

Adrienne Brundage

Kelly Elkins

Lawrence Quarino